Job Highlight

Over the years CVIP and WSHE have enjoyed a great partnership. CVIP's customer base has grown over the years to a multitude of varying customers and projects. We like to feel that we were a part of their growth by constantly providing them with high quality work, completed on time, and with high praise during the checkout and final testing phase. This is another example of how quality work can enhance our standing with our customers and also to help them grow their customer base, which in effect grows our work.

Code of Excellence

This month our big winner is Justin Evans

Justin Evans started with us on the DSM project as a working journeyman. He has quickly moved up to the foreman position and is now taking on larger projects in the 102 area. Justin is a sharp, skilled, well rounded electrician with a good work ethic that has helped us complete jobs with quality work, and also completing them under budget. We have received several positive comments from our customers on his performance and overall ability to manage projects. Another one of his attributes is his ability to share information with the project managers. This is a tremendous help for managing projects on our end. Keep up the great work!

Safety Award

This month the Safety Award goes to Don Kuklinski

Don is well deserving of this award, as safety is foremost on his priority list at Just Born. No matter if we have one man or six men on site, he sets the standards we work by. He also is always available to come in after hours to deal with maintenance problems that if not attended to promptly, could possibly create a safety hazard for the Just Born employees. He has been recognized by Just Born for these efforts. Another example of how we can create the "team" approach with all our customers. We look after them, they look after us!

Purchasing – Ed Langer

As you all have seen, we are constantly trying to keep updated on the latest technology for our field personnel. Take a look at the attached new MB1000 Bender from Southwire. We recently purchased one for use on one of our larger conduit projects and believe this will be a true labor saver when it comes to jobs that entail an extensive amount of hand bending. You can check out the video presentation on YouTube to get a glimpse of how it works.

Safety – Meagan Cunningham

This month is a reminder on Ladder Safety.

We have to remember to inspect our ladders on a daily basis. If you have a bad ladder, please make the shop aware of it immediately, so we can get a proper replacement out to you. If we are not aware of your needs, we can't get you new equipment.

- Using Ladders improperly leads to serious injuries, falls, and, in some cases, even death.
- Ladder selection is key. Make sure you are aware of the size ladder you need and then use the best one for that job.
- Always face a ladder when using it. DON'T LEAN or REACH, instead, get off the ladder, move it to the right position, & NEVER stand on the top of a ladder.

Keeping safety at the forefront of our day is top priority. We must always be aware of our surroundings and the tools we need to make our job successful.

We are continuing with our 6 Month Training Schedule Please Call and Sign-up for classes, it is never too early to get a jump start on your credits for the year!
